Voyage Information

RYA training voyages have no fixed itinerary. They will usually visit a selection of ports in South Devon. The weather, and particularly the direction of the wind, is the main determining factor. For reasons of safety and comfort, the skipper has the responsibility of taking the final decision on destinations, based on conditions at the time.

In order to maintain a high standard of instruction, the maximum number of trainees on any RYA course will be five. If unsure of the most appropriate level of course for you, please contact us for advice.

As part of the experience of cruising on a sailing vessel, you will be expected to take a share of domestic duties during the voyage including cooking, washing up and cleaning.

The price of voyages includes all meals on board, fuel, harbour dues and insurance. It does not include meals that you choose to have ashore. A deposit of 25% is required to confirm the booking, with the balance due one month before the start of the voyage. In the event that you have to cancel, we will endeavour to find a replacement, in which case any monies paid will be refunded.

Although insurance includes cover for injury and loss of life, you may wish to have your own insurance against cancellation, medical expenses etc.

We reserve the right to cancel any voyage. If this proves necessary any money you have paid will be refunded. We will not be responsible for any delay due to weather conditions, or curtailment due to operational reasons beyond our control.

All group members should be reasonably fit for a voyage in a sailing vessel, and free from medical disabilities which would affect their ability to take part in such a voyage. If this may not be the case, please check with us at the time of booking.

The decision of the skipper, or his delegated representative will be final. All matters arising from voyages shall be subject to English law and jurisdiction.

If you have special dietary requirements, please let us know. Vegetarian meals are available, but it helps to know how many we are catering for when ordering supplies for the voyage. Please also inform us of any other requirements that may necessitate special arrangements, including any medical conditions or medication.

Full travel directions, and advice on what to bring and wear, are sent out when bookings are confirmed.

Please give details of somebody ashore who can be contacted in the event of an emergency.
